SMALL JOBS, METICULOUS WORKMANSHIP = BIG JOBS, CONTINUOUS BUSINESS!

The big companies search for contractors who are prompt, efficient, honest and direct, keep the jobsite clean and neat, and take great pride in their workmanship. When the price is, at least, also reasonable, these contractors usually get called back for more and more work. We know some who have been working at the same facilities for over 20-30 years, with little, or no competition. When it has been proven that the job will be done right, it is a valuable time and money-saving deal for the owner, and he is reluctant to lose this association. And, the contractor builds greater support with each such job. Just ask Buster Wilkerson at Arris Construction. He did these jobs, and he will tell you that each small opportunity done properly, usually leads to more and bigger work.
